

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

The American College of Healthcare Architects honors Ann H. Adams FACHA, AIA with its Presidential Citation.

The American College of Healthcare Architects (ACHA) is proud to announce that Ann H. Adams, has been awarded the 2025 ACHA Presidential Citation. This award is bestowed upon individuals who have demonstrated significant contributions over their career toward advancing the art and science of healthcare architecture.

Adams received the award “in recognition of her dedication to serving and advancing the profession of healthcare architecture through the College, and her extraordinary leadership in planning and executing the yearlong celebration of its 25th anniversary.”

David Allison FAIA, FACHA, the 2025 President of the ACHA, stated, “Ann’s impact on the College has been immeasurable. Her dedication to serving the college since certification, and ultimate leadership as its 2024 President have made a significant impact on advancing the mission and vision of the College. Her dedication, time and effort in planning the yearlong celebration of 25th Anniversary of the College has truly been extraordinary, and its success would not have been possible without her leadership and commitment. I am honored to present her with this Presidential Citation.”

The Presidential Citation was presented to Ann H. Adams during the ACHA's annual luncheon held on October 27th at the 2025 Healthcare Design Conference, in Kansas City, MO.

About the American College of Healthcare Architects:

The American College of Healthcare Architects (ACHA) is the premier professional organization dedicated to advancing the practice of healthcare architecture. The ACHA is committed to promoting excellence in the design of healthcare facilities and advocating for the critical role that architects play in creating healthy and healing environments.